

CLAREMONT TRIO

Press Quotes

“With performances of this quality, the Claremont Trio can justifiably be considered one of America’s finest young chamber groups.”

-Strad Magazine

“The recording is ideal...and the playing is uniformly lovely. I know of no finer recording of the Beethoven, and this one stands with the best classic versions of the Brahms.”

-Fanfare

“Pure perfection”

-Palm Beach Daily News

“The playing was superb. Vastly talented even in their first years, Claremont now performs with the ease of an ensemble that knows each other’s every move.”

-South Coast Today

"The performances felt intimate, comfortable, and assured... a deeply satisfying reading."

-Boston Globe

"Claremont Trio offered up an intriguing program that showcased the ensemble’s evocative strengths and emotional depth... Claremont is a sensitive group that plays with passion... As finely as the trio performs dramatics, it is in the execution of atmospheric material that it is most captivating."

-Washington Post

"The performances themselves are all excellent: the Claremonts have obviously invested themselves in this music deeply and play it from a place of deep knowledge and expressive security. As such, the album stands as a shining testament to their adeptness as an ensemble as well as their curiosity as musicians. To be sure, this is a release that makes one excited for the group’s next twenty years."

-The Arts Fuse

"Performances that are deft, exhilarating, and imaginative"

-Strings Magazine

"Their exuberant performance and gutsy repertoire ... was the kind of fresh approach that keeps chamber music alive."

-Cincinnati Enquirer

“These are some of the most impassioned, moving, and notable readings of these favorites that I have ever heard, bar none. I am especially picky about the Beethoven, one of my favorites and to this point best projected by the legendary Istomin-Stern-Rose Trio. But the Claremont has their measure fully, and this is something I never thought I would say.”

-Audiophile Audition

"The freshest breath of air in the world of chamber music today."

-Naples Daily News
